Jazz Summer School

East Riding College

Jazz Summer School

A performer's dream...

- Tuition from some of the top professional jazz practitioners in the north of England
- Learn about jazz composition, stylistic awareness and getting the most out of rehearsals
- Crammed with activities designed to inspire and stimulate confidence in performance and composition

Our Jazz Summer School offers a crucial opportunity to any jazz practitioners out there who wish to be part of an intensive project of jazz understanding, delivered in a friendly style.

It is a chance to take part in a major jazz festival at the new Hull Truck Theatre in the centre of Hull, a major jazz venue in the country.

One of the highlights of the summer school will be a masterclass from Iain Dixon, an acknowledged expert in jazz performance and education.

His experience of working with stars such as Michael Brecker, Joni Mitchell, Kenny Wheeler, John Taylor, Peter Erskine and Mike Gibbs gives him a key insight into the genre.

As well as the activities during the day, students and tutors are invited to a Jazz Summer School jazz jam on the second night at Pave, Princes Avenue in Hull which is a jazz venue in the city.

Tutor team: Martin Jones (trumpet, vocals and programme leader); Joel Purnell (sax); Kev Holbrough (trombone); Sean Miller (keyboards); Andy Swift (bass); Jeff Parsons (Contextual Studies); Francis Gill (guitar); Adrian Treacher (drums); and Tim Keech (composing and arranging).
